BOOKS,

Printed and sold by

MATHEW CAREY,

No. 118, Market-street, Philadelphia.

1. AMERICAN MUSEUM, from its commencement in January, 1787, to December, 1791, in ten vols. Price, neatly bound and lettered, sixteen dollars.

This work, which is now conducted on an improved plan, containing the best pieces published for and against the proceedings of government, will be found to contain at least as great a variety of political, agricultural, and miscellaneous essays, as any ever published in America. Perhaps in no one work are so many valuable documents respecting the history of this country, collected together. His Excellency the President of the United States, has declared of it that "a more useful literary plan has never been undertaken in America, nor one more deserving of public encouragement." The subscription is two dollars and a half per ann. Gentlemen in the country who wish to be supplied with this work, are requested to give commission to friends in the city to subscribe for and receive it. Any of the back numbers may be had in order to complete sets.

2. The LADIES' LIBRARY, containing

1. Miss More's Essays
2. Gregory's Legacy
3. Lady Pennington's advice
4. Marchioness of Lambert's advice
5. Swift's letter to a new married lady
6. Miss Chapone on command of temper
7. More's fables for the ladies.

THE editor of this publication hopes, from the established reputation of the several tracts of which it is composed, that it will be found a more complete system for the instruction of the female world, than perhaps any other extant.

A volume, under the present title, was lately published in England & Ireland, and had a most rapid sale, having been purchased by almost every lady of taste in those kingdoms. To this volume the editor has added Miss More's Essays—Mrs. Chapone's letters on the government of the temper—Swift's letter to a young lady newly married. These have considerably enhanced its value, and he doubts not, the ladies on this side of the Atlantic will be as generous in their encouragement of a work intended for their advantage as those in England and Ireland have been.

3. Smith's History of New-York, from its first settlement to the year 1732. To which is annexed, a description of the country, with a short account of the inhabitants, their religious and political state, and the constitution of the courts of justice. Price a dollar and a quarter.

4. Elements of Moral Science, by James Beattie, D.D. professor of moral philosophy and logic in the Marischal College, Aberdeen. Price three-fourths of a dollar. Of this book the Critical Reviewers (vol. 6n, p. 628) say: "We have seen nothing on these subjects more plain, more perspicuous, or more generally useful." N.B. It is introduced into the University in Philadelphia.

5. Beauties of Poetry, British and American. Containing select productions of Waller, Milton, Addison, Pope, Shirely, Parnell, Wattle, Thompson, Young, Shenstone, Akenfield, Gray, Goldsmith, Johnson, Garrick, Cowper, Moore, Beattie, Burns, Merry, Cowley, Woltott, Palmerston, Penrose.

Number seven, containing a table of the principal restrictions, impositions and prohibitions, sustained by the united states in their trade with the British dominions, and of those sustained by Great Britain in her trade with the dominions of the united states; also some remarks on certain prevalent topics, relative to the general business & intercourse between the two countries.

To which are added, two notes on the present state of household or domestic manufactures, and on manufactures in general, in the united states. Price five eighths of a dollar.

8. A treatise on the Importance of Religious Opinions. By the celebrated M. Necker. Price four fifths of a dollar.

Of this work, the monthly reviewer (vol. 78, page 598) says: "The offering here made at the shrine of religion, by a man of business, a man of true political wisdom, and a man of the world, in the city of Paris, is a curious phenomenon.—It is a noble one, and gives M. Necker, who has been long esteemed for his great capacity, literary merit, and eminent virtues, a new and distinguished title to the veneration of the public. It has been this virtuous man's destiny to arrive at eminence in every line that he has pursued, from the counting-house to the threshold of the cabinet. And it is impossible, if we read the work before us with candor and attention, not to see that both his head and his heart make a distinguished and affecting appearance in the cause of religion.
